ARMISTICE—WAR

Enjoying peace and good times while the rest of the world is in a period of unrest and depression.

Great isn't it?
How long will it last?
Why worry about that?

BUT,

When you got up this morning didn't you unlock your doors in order to get out of the house, and the chances are two to one that you took an automatic or six shooter from underneath your pillow and put it beyond the reach of the children.

Today and for the past few months the interest of practically the entire nation has been centered on one of the biggest men that the United States Army has ever produced. At least, that is the esteem Colonel William Mitchell is held in by any man who ever sat in a cockpit and staked his life against a few yards of linen and a revolving propeller.

The condition of the Air Service brings to mind an editorial that appeared shortly after the war and parts of it are worth repetition here. It sums up the story of national protection in a nutshell.

"It is inconceivable that a man would build a home without providing locks on the windows and doors to keep out the thieves."

"It is inconceivable that a man would accumulate vast wealth through arduous labor, and then leave his gold in the open without protection."

"It is inconceivable that there should be citizens of the United States who oppose the establishment of an adequate armed force to act as locks for our windows and doors as safes for the wealth we accumulated by arduous labor—but there are such citizens."

"There must be necessity be divergent opinions regarding any great undertaking in a country which contains 100,000,000 inhabitants. No nation in the world was ever known to have given unanimous assent or dissent to any proposition. It is a great truth that there are always two sides to any controversy."

"There are men who still believe that life insurance is a swindle, that aeroplanes are only a fad, that wireless telegraphy is a fake."

Must we be forever and always hoodwinked by the smooth-tongued mollycoddle, who, digging his head into the sand, fiercely proclaims that we are bounded on the east and west by oceans 5000 miles across, and therefore we are immune from invasion, that our fleets would blow the invaders out of the water, that we "could raise an army of 1,000,000 men over night?" Isn't one lesson enough? Remember the burnt child?

"It may not be amiss to call to mind the fact that during the war WE transported nearly 3,000,000 men to Europe without losing a man."

"The ability to organize and direct is noticeable in foreign countries. We have no monopoly on that ability. The possession of an adequate armed force within our country is the only thing that will insure us against the possibility of some other country some time attempting to transport 3,000,000 men THIS way across the ocean."

"Wise Americans recognize the advisability of providing an armed force adequate to protect the United States from any such possible invasion."

"IT IS POSSIBLE."
Observe Armistice Day and pay tribute to those who sacrificed all in the LAST war, and pray for peace and carry out a national program that will do everything in this world to promote peace. BUT keep the door locked so that those who fell in Belleau Woods, the Argonne and Chateau Thierry may not have died in vain.

PRISON ROW TO BE AIRED

The controversy between George A. Van Smith, president of the State Board of Prison Directors and Warden Frank J. Smith of San Quentin, is to be aired at the meeting of the board tomorrow at Folsom.

Van Smith arrived in San Francisco yesterday in company with W. F. Morrish, who is a Berkeley member of the prison board who went to San Francisco to accompany Van Smith here, supposedly to acquaint him with the department that had taken place in the controversy since his departure for the East several days ago.

The controversy arose when Van Smith was charged by Smith with issuing orders to guards and employees at the prison to take orders from him in place of the warden.

Poster Spencer of Los Angeles arrived in Richmond last night for a visit with his cousin, Mrs. C. G. Lindemann. He will remain in Richmond indefinitely.

OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY
IS HELD HERE

Memories of the day seven years ago yesterday, when the World War came to a close were brought back to the people of Richmond last night with the ceremonies of the celebration of Armistice Day by the American Legion.

The ceremonies were conducted at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue, where the Legion is staging its circus for the benefit of the endowment fund. City Attorney D. J. Hall was the principal speaker of the evening and his topic was "The Spirit of Armistice Day."

Hall declared that if Armistice meant the laying down of arms and the starting of perpetual peace it was the greatest

Dr. Blazer Fail
Jury Has Case

(By Universal Service)

LITTLETON, (Colo.), Nov. 11.—With the fate of Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer in their hands 12 men of Arapahoe county left the jury box at 9:50 o'clock tonight witnessing an emotional breakdown on the part of the old country physician who is charged with murdering his helpless imbecile and maimed daughter Hazel Blazer.

LITTLETON, Colo., Nov. 11.—Judge Samuel W. Johnson today denied a motion designed to free Dr. Harold E. Blazer on the ground that the imbecile daughter he is accused of killing was not a human being within the meaning of the law.

District Attorney Joel Stone of Arapahoe county began his closing address to the jury immediately following the reading of the court's instructions, which procedure in this State precedes the arguments.

In denying the motion to dismiss the defendant, Judge Johnson acquiesced with little argument all the hair-splitting and nebulous theories which the trial has been clouded inside and outside the courtroom from the day the talesmen were summoned.

"The law is not concerned as I see it," he said, "with any of these metaphysical or religious or any other end of doctrines regarding the soul of some individual."

"The law is only concerned with a being born of a woman, the lives regardless of whether it has the shape of a human being or whether it ever develops to be a completed person or not."

GOLETT CASE
GOES TO JURY
IN SHORT TIME

After eight weeks of testimony the end of the famous Golett oil swindle case is in sight. Unless changes are made the case should be in the hands of the jury by the middle of next week.

Deputy District Attorney Frank Coakley is scheduled to begin the opening argument for the prosecution this morning. It is expected that Pierce will consume about two entire days in his argument for the defendants, Edwin E. Reeves, Mrs. Peggy Reeves, Franklin P. Davis and C. E. Peacock.

Closing arguments for the prosecution will be made by Assistant District Attorney Wade Snook, who is expected to consume about two days.

The prosecution has maintained throughout the trial that the four defendants were familiar with the details of the fraud to fleece hundreds of investors in a purported oil merger of fourteen companies. The defense however maintains that the four defendants were duped by James Gough, alleged master mind of the swindle and along with their victims invested large amounts in the fictitious stock. Gough represented himself as a confidential agent of E. L. Doherty, while engineering the scheme, according to testimony given at the trial.

The occupants of the cars were not injured, and the damage to the machines amounted to only a few bent fenders.

Had Agreement
On Air Trophies

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The existence of an agreement between the Army and Navy Air services to divide honors in air races was brought suddenly before the court-martial of Col. William Mitchell today.

It was proved by a letter exchanged between Col. Theodore Roosevelt, while assistant secretary and General Patrick, chief of the Army Air service.

The first suggestion for ending competition in the races was made by Roosevelt in a letter to Patrick, dated November 10, 1923. Roosevelt wrote that there was "too much competition" between the army and navy and that the two services should be more sisterly, and proposed an agreement whereby the army flyers should compete in one race

ASSOCIATION HAS MEETING

VALLEJO, Nov. 11.—The Bay Barrier Association reached a decision yesterday to discontinue further plans on the proposed dam project until they had received reports of experts who will investigate every angle of the undertaking. Rich land which is now under water would be reclaimed by this project, according to statements by Engineer P. Dennis, and a great amount of water from the Sierra mountains would be conserved.

"A dam across Suisun Bay would provide an unlimited supply of water for all kinds of industries," said Engineer John D. Little, of the Antioch Bridge company, who gave a discussion on the benefits to be derived by having fresh water in the bays and rivers in this section.

A great financial saving in freight rates by having harbors and rivers deepened was shown by Major W. N. Schultz, U. S. A. who is representing the War Department.

J. Atherton, secretary of the Delta Land Association of Stockton said that he felt a dam in Suisun bay would not meet with the approval of his district if it interfered with their project of having a 26 foot channel from Stockton soon for a conference.

The fine dinner was prepared by the ladies guild, with Mrs. E. C. Hayde as chairman and the tables were attractively decorated with flower centerpieces.

The Star Spangled Banner was sung by the group at the close of the meeting.

SYNOPSIS
Connemara Moore and David Lacy, strangers, until tonight, are racing across Long Island in David's car. On the ferry, crossing from Connecticut, a stranger, announcing himself as "Pooch," had joined them. "Pooch," now in the back seat, has just leaned over and handed the mystified girl a big roll of bills. Back in Aunt Clemm's Connecticut home is a worried company. Connie was to have announced her engagement tonight—to Bing Carrington or Salt Adams—but, instead, she has disappeared.

And what a situation! Midnight or thereabouts. Somewhere between Manhasset Bay and Hempstead Harbor, Connemara Moore in deceptive fancy dress, planted in a breakdown—not to say up-car in the company of two strangers, obviously of nefarious calling, bent on criminal endeavor. For there could be no doubt about it; Mr. Pooch, of course—with his fifty thousand dollars which Connemara could hear cracking in one of the more intimate recesses of her costume—but also Mr. Whatever-his-name-was. A nice young man too. A little slow on the uptake, perhaps, although he had picked her up fast enough, Connemara was forced to admit. Yes, a nice young man—a little less than Salt and more than Bing, which was probably just about the right combination—but a crook, a crook, Connemara reminded herself. A fifty-thousand-dollar crook!

"I wish he hadn't been a crook, I really do," Connemara remarked sadly to herself. She certainly had no intention of associating herself

Soon a darker shadow proclaimed a boat at anchor in the deeper water. With any bright young stranger who appeared to be headed for Atlanta or some other federal resort, unless he were dead back there in the road, which seemed not unlikely.

Where was everybody, anyway? Connemara's wheel came to a stop—it could only have been a few seconds since the crash—and Connemara found herself staring at the two individuals from the Pierce who had now advanced much closer. "What goes on, Ku Klux?" one of them inquired.

A flashlight blinked in her face, blinding her, and at the same moment there was the crack of a revolver over her shoulder. Connemara felt a hand on her arm, found herself jerked backward onto the road, heard the inimitable accents of Mr. Pooch in her ear, "You come with me, kid—over the speckled sands!"

"But Mr.—Mr.—your friend?" Connemara protested, and wondered why. "To hell with him!" Mr. Pooch announced, dragging her after him into the shadows. "He'll have to look out for himself with them highjackers. Guess perhaps he's croaked, anyway!"

Yes, perhaps so. Anyway, there was nothing to be done now but follow Mr. Pooch, much as a tender follows its engine. As for the nice young man—let him go, the fifty-thousand dollar crook.

Which was exactly what David Lacy was saying to himself from his place of precarious concealment in the ditch in which he was picking odds and ends out of his hair. She was a nice girl—more than that, mysterious, charming, alluring; David Lacy allowed himself the world, intruding.

But she was a crook—no question about it, a friend of that poisonous Pooch, who had recognized her and given her money. Too much money.

Marriage License Taken Out By Local Teacher

Having A. Sargent, 25, son of Mrs. F. G. Sargent, 621 Macdonald avenue, and Miss Mary Louise Chalup, of Fresno, a teacher in the Fairmont school, obtained a marriage license in San Francisco yesterday. Miss Chalup declined to divulge the date of

It was all too bad—too damn bad—but let her go, the fifty-thousand-dollar crook.

"Good riddance," David Lacy decided under his breath. "You—your Whited Sepulcher."

In spite of which he found himself wriggling along the ditch, in the direction taken by Mr. Pooch and that smooth-tongued young deception.

For perhaps the first time in her vivid young life, things were happening almost too fast for Connemara. She was able, usually, to pluck at least the tail feathers, as it were, from any passing event, but on this occasion the needle of Connemara's mental recording apparatus was seismic in its evolutions upon the chart of her perceptions. She was being dragged along madly through the dark by the snorting Mr. Pooch. Behind her on the road a commotion of voices and revolver shots bespoke an increasing tumult, in the midst of which the gentleman in the overturned sedan could still be heard, plaintively abusive.

"What you firing at me for?" he kept inquiring. "What do you think I am, a shooting gallery?"

Aside from that, Connemara found herself just a breath or two behind the pageant of human events rocketing past her. In fact, she found herself entirely out of breath, in her enforced attempt to keep pace with the fugitive Pooch, whose grasp upon her arm had not for a moment, needless to say, relaxed. Mr. Pooch was steaming across open fields, hurling himself through hedges, floundering over ditches, decanting himself on the further side of only too frequently recurring fences, and wherever Mr. Pooch went, Connemara was obliged to follow, a reluctant, gasping, willy-nilly tail to his comet, much encumbered by her nun's attire.

At last there was a sandy slope, the sudden level of a deserted beach, a glimmer of water at sight of which Mr. Pooch went into reverse. Connemara sat down at once.

"Wh-wh-wh—" she remarked, and Mr. Pooch laughed.

"All in, ain't you, kid?" he grinned at her. "Pretty light on my feet for a heavy guy, I am. No time to lose back there; had to make our get-away."

"You needn't have b-bothered about me," Connemara assured him, and Mr. Pooch roared with mirth.

"Zat so?" he chuckled. "Say, kid, you're a hot one. Think I'd leave you behind with all that dough for them highjackers to get their hooks on? Now everything's going to be just you—just stick with me and you'll wear diamonds!"

With this dazzling prospect in view, Connemara arose to her protesting feet, for the good and simple reason that Mr. Pooch had begun to move forward again—his hand, if anything, firmer upon her arm—prospecting along the beach. A few hundred yards away they came to a dinghy, a black dinghy with a white bottom, fast in the sand. Mr. Pooch shoved the boat clear with one hand and turned to Connemara.

"In you get," he commanded, "and sit in the stern—back to the square end—where I can see you, my girl!"

Connemara sat in the stern, and Mr. Pooch climbed in after her and possessed himself of the oars.

"Now we'll look for this baby's mother," he remarked and began to row, sloppily but not without results, for soon a darker shadow proclaimed a boat at anchor in the deeper water—a small power yacht, black with a white bottom showing when she rose on her line.

"Ain't no one aboard," Mr. Pooch observed, and let the dinghy bump. But Mr. Pooch was wrong. There was someone aboard, who manifested himself from the tenebrous cockpit in the form of a genial voice heavily freighted with Scotch—both linguistically and liquidly speaking.

"Hooray!" said a voice, somewhat unexpectedly.

"Hooray yourself," Mr. Pooch replied. "What time is it?"

"Nine bells," the voice assured him. "Nine bells, daylight-savin' time. Come right aboard and have 'some coffee!'"

"We'll do that little thing," Mr. Pooch chuckled, and helped Connemara up the side, much as a policeman helps a prisoner into the van. The voice in the cockpit revealed itself as a little man in a white-visored cap, grinning delightedly from ear to ear. He was, it was evident, fried, blotto, ossified, in short drunk, as only a Scotchman can be.

Corinne Griffith Does Good Work In Richmond Film

Those who see Corinne Griffith in "Declasse," which began a two day run at the Richmond theatre last night, will agree that she has done the best work of her career in this screen adaptation of the famous stage play by Zoe Akins.

The enthusiasm which marked the initial showing of this First National picture was unusual. Robert Vignola, who directed the production, deserves special mention for the excellence of his work.

Miss Griffith was surrounded by a cast whose names were nearly all familiar to the audience. It included Lloyd Hughes, Hedda Hopper, Rockliffe Fellowes, Louise Fazenda, Lilyan Tashman, Olive Brook, Joan Standing, Eddie Lyons, Mario Carillo and others. The adaptation was by Bradley King and Charles Whitaker.

"Declasse," as a stage play, was made famous by Ethel Barrymore. Other features on the same program include "Don't Pinch," a Bobby Vernon comedy; "Prizma," the screen magazine.

MAY MURRAY IS STAR IN FILM AT CALIFORNIA

Mae Murray, the Metro star, comes to the California theatre today only in her latest picture, "Mademoiselle Midnight," which is said to give her the best role she has ever played.

Monte Blue heads the supporting cast, which also includes Robert McKim, Robert Edson, John Sainpolis, Otis Harlan, Nigel de Bruiler and Nick de Ruiz. Oliver T. Marsh was the photographer. "Mademoiselle Midnight" is presented by Tiffany Productions, of which M. H. Hoffman is general manager and Robert Z. Leonard, director general. It is released by Metro.

When Carol Dempster, celebrated screen star, was a youngster, she never missed a circus when it came to the old home town. She loved animals, and besides, admits she possessed a secret girlish ambition to be a circus performer. She wanted to drive in a chariot race or to appear in a circus parade atop an elephant. Anything would suit her just as long as she was in the circus. Of course, as she grew older, she decided differently.

But it remained for D. W. Griffith, whose new comedy drama, "Sally of the Sawdust," a United Artists Corporation release coming to the California theatre tomorrow, to permit Carol to fulfill her childhood ambition. Miss Dempster plays the part of Sally McGargle.

POVERTY-STRICKEN FIRST WIFE OF DUKE, WHO LEFT $100,000,000 NEAR DEATH

This day the will of James B. Duke, tobacco magnate, was filed a handful of worried women lodgers grouped around the bed of the former Lillian N. Fletcher in New York City. She was unconscious from a second cerebral hemorrhage and physicians said she could not recover. This woman was divorced by Duke in 1907. Last March she brought action in the Supreme Court for a ruling setting aside the divorce, which would have invalidated his second marriage of Mrs. Walter Imman. Her request was denied and the case was appealed. The first Mrs. Duke had been giving music lessons but recently had only three pupils and she was practically without funds when she was stricken.

His Majesty the Baby

OUR PROUD REPUTATION

That the Purity Creamery of Richmond is one of the best conducted and most sanitary plants in the state was the opinion of speakers who sponsored the new milk ordinance before the city council.

Dr. Blake and others spoke in high terms about the local creamery which is said to have passed all state inspections with high scores under the pure food act. It has always merited the very best reports, it was said.

Before his little teeth are strong enough to chew. His MAJESTY—the BABY lives largely on milk—and thrives on it.
His gurgles of delight undoubtedly mean—

RICHMOND HI NOT TO ENTER GRID LEAGUE

Rumors have been rife about Richmond and other Eastbay cities during the past few weeks that Richmond Union high school is preparing to enter the Alameda county high school football league, the Contra Costa county league, the C. I. F. and others.

Coach Ivan Hill of the high school emphatically denied the report yesterday, stating that it is the attitude of the school and school officials that entering leagues does not make for better efficiency among the teams.

Being out of all leagues has caused considerable difficulty in obtaining games for the various teams of the school. However, it is felt that sufficient contests are obtained in football, basketball and baseball on the open dates of aggregations in leagues to keep up the interest in the sports and prevent the athletes from going stale.

The unlimited basketball team turned out for its first practice last night. Although somewhat hit by graduation, Hill believes that his team will come through in great shape and turn out to be a winner. It is expected that at least two games will be played before the Christmas graduation, in order that those players leaving school at that time will have one more chance to play.

Washington vs. California To Be Great Game

Those football fans who had hopes of seeing what will probably be the best attraction on the coast this season and have postponed getting their pastebards are absolutely "out of luck."

"There ain't gonno be no more." The last of the tickets for the Washington-California game at the Berkeley Memorial stadium next Saturday were sold out yesterday with the exception of the 7,000 reserved for California rooters and those are dwindling away to nothing with the prospects of being gone by tonight.

Win or lose today, Washington has a fine prospect of being the coast conference champion. She has been undefeated so far this year and her remaining game is with the Purple and Gold of Oregon. California has also been victorious in all conference battles.

Now if California beats the Huskies, the Huskies beat Oregon and then the Cards wallop California quite a competition will occur. This prospect is rather dim however.

Saturday will see California play its hardest game of the year and if they should happen to be on the long end of the score they are practically cinched for the "rag."

Berkeley Cagers Win From Locals

Playing under a handicap of three string men absent, the Young Men's Division of the Y. M. C. A. was swamped 26 to 7 by the cage team of the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley, at the Y Building Tuesday night.

The local five tried with all its might, but lacked the strength to overcome the dazzling speed of the College City boys.

Speer, Powell, Pimm, Vargas, Hepler and Caneannon made up the aggregation that represented the Y. M. C. A.

High School To Play Druggists

The cage men of Richmond Union high school are keyed up for their battle this evening with the La Moine Druggists. The game which marks the opening of the school season will be played at the gymnasium of the high school at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Ivan Hill has not decided upon the starting lineup, but announced yesterday that he would use every man in the squad, giving each a try-out in order to get a line on his material.

The game will mean nothing, whether Richmond high loses or wins as it is merely a practice affair. Nevertheless the school boys are preparing to expend every effort in triumphing over the Druggists. They want to get the season open with a flying start. The druggists are strong contenders in the city league.

NEW SERIES RECORD

Ralph P. Sullivan, aged 65, of Old Saybrook, Conn., is believed to hold the world record for series endurance. He claims to have seen every baseball "championship" series since the world series started in 1903, gaining admission to nearly all of them by waiting his turn to buy a bleacher seat. Not so bad.

PA DESTROYS CHANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Young Strubbling will never be a full fledged heavyweight batter, according to physical conditions. His father and manager has matched him in 150 battles in four years and he has earned $330,000. But he is worn out at the age of 21. Even soft pickings fail to give the youngster a rest.

ONE MORE RECORD

Old time records, made in the early days of baseball, racing and other sport have stood so long that they are sometimes forgotten. How many people know that Eddie Collins has stolen six bases in a single game upon two occasions—against Detroit and against St. Louis, both in 1912? The mark has never been broken.

CHARGES MADE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A legal touchdown was scored by Sunday football today when charges that players of the New York and Cleveland professional teams violated Sabbath "blue laws" were dismissed. Magistrate James Barrett declared that as he saw the games, he could not determine that they in any way disturbed the peace.

ARMY AND NAVY BATTLE FIERCLY TO 7 TO 7 SCORE

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Nov. 11.—Bore a crowd which rivaled in colorfulness the famous Army and Navy games of the East the All-Ninth Corps area Army football team battled the eleven of the Submarine division of the Navy battle fleet to a 7 to 7 tie in the California stadium here today.

The teams fought evenly during the first two quarters, neither being able to score although each attack at one time penetrated as far as the enemy 12 yard line.

The Navy, in the third quarter, receiving a punt on its own five yard line proceeded without interruption on an advance, which netted a touchdown. On a ten yard forward pass the Battle Fleet Goat broke away for a 52-yard run to the Army Mule's 14 yard line. Then another pass netted the score.

Then only four minutes were left to play and the Army had not scored it looked like a certain Navy victory but the Army blocked a punt, sending it straight up into the air, it was captured by a soldier and carried over the goal line.

ONE PRICE "GRADE"

The big city studios' low priced "SPECIAL" usually turns out to be "OUR LOWEST GRADE" when you go get it.

Then they use high powered SALESMANSHIP to sell you something "BETTER". Our policy is to make only the BEST GRADE that we can possibly make and make our prices so low the year 'round that we CAN'T cut them.

DEER REFUGE IS PLANNED

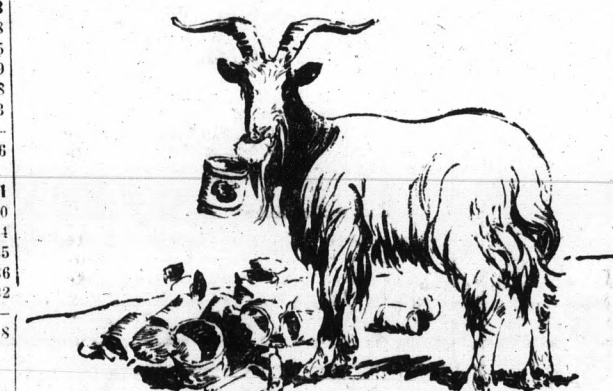

Deer in or out of season, will find a safe refuge on thousands of acres in San Benito county if plans now being worked out by officials of the Pinnacles National Park Association materialize.

W. L. Hawkins, custodian of the Pinnacles National Park, and Harvey M. Toy, president of the association, are behind a plan to enlarge the game refuge which includes part of the county adjacent to the Pinnacles. This would not only protect the hundreds of deer in the park's game preserve, but at the same time would encourage the breeding of the fleet footed animals.

The deer in the Pinnacles National Park are said to be so tame that they do not fear approaching a man.

Maccabees Have Entertainment After Meeting

An entertainment program and refreshments followed the business session of the W. A. B. Maccabees in Memorial hall last night. Dur-

DO GOATS really EAT TIN CANS?

NO, that's just a superstition fostered by the comic strips. And the idea that there is something mysteriously better about "eastern" automobile lubricants simply because they are made in the east and cost more is another superstition—which a majority of motorists in the Pacific Coast states have come to disregard.

No, Nor Do Eastern Oils Lubricate Better
As a matter of fact, the best and most suitable crude petroleum for the manufacture of a motor oil, is obtained from Pacific Coast wells. Zerolene, made from this naphthenic base crude, carefully selected and refined by our patented high-vacuum process, not only costs less but lubricates better.

Zerolene Successfully Lubricates ALL Makes of Cars
If you have been paying high prices for eastern oils—think what a "lubrication census" of the automobiles in any large western city would show: Zerolene successfully lubricating every make of car in use—high priced and low—more cars than any other oil made.

Why Experienced Automobile Men Say—
"Use Zerolene"

Zerolene increases gasoline mileage, reduces carbon troubles, and lengthens the life of the engine; and because it does—automobile agencies and big users of such celebrated makes as Cadillac, Chrysler, Dodge, Lincoln, Oakland, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, Willys-Knight, etc., unhesitatingly say—"Use Zerolene."

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene even if it does cost less. Always ask for ZEROLENE by name.

Get the Facts!
A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less

Martinez Wins Championship From Concord

The Alhambra High school, of Martinez, football team is the champion of Contra Costa County by virtue of its 12 to 0 victory over the Diablo eleven of Concord at Martinez yesterday afternoon.

W. L. "Doc" Seawright director of physical education in the Richmond schools, who acted as referee at the game, reported that it was one of the best high school grid games he has witnessed this season.

Seawright reported that the Concord aggregation fought every inch of the way and on three occasions held the county seaters helpless on the one foot line. In spite of their greatest efforts, however, they were unable to push the ball to within striking distance of the Alhambra's goal line.

The business session only routine matters were taken up as it was desired to get the entertainment under way as early as possible.

The program consisted of songs, instrumental selections, readings and recitations by various talented members of the organization. A large number of members and their friends were in attendance and all voted that the evening had been enjoyably spent.

CARD COACH IS TO SPEAK HERE

Andy Kerr, assistant coach at Stanford University, will speak before the members of the Richmond Rotary club on Friday. It was announced yesterday by Dr. U. S. Abbott, chairman of the day. The members are manifesting unusual interest in this program. Kerr, a member of the Palo Alto Rotary club, will talk on a subject in keeping with the club celebration of boys' week.

Lexington Car Is Stolen Here

George Schultz, 2224 Broadway Oakland, reported to the police department last night that while his Lexington automobile was parked on Nevin avenue, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets last night it was stolen. The theft occurred about 9 o'clock according to the report. Up to a late hour police had failed in their efforts to recover the car.

Patriotic and fraternal organizations are to combine this year in their efforts to bring cheer to the patients of the Livermore hospital for tubercular war veterans by a request from Col. P. S. Rauls, commanding officer at the hospital. This will be done so that there will not be too many parties and duplications of gifts.

There has been a committee formed with Dr. John Slavich, past commander of Oakland Post of the American Legion at the head.

Ruel S. Crose will represent Richmond at the meeting, which will be held this evening in the Red Cross rooms, 1307 Harrison street, Oakland at 7:30 o'clock. All local organizations, who are planning to help with this Christmas work are asked to get in touch with him.

Representatives of the Legion, Elks, War Mothers and various other war veteran organizations and their auxiliaries and fraternal societies are invited to attend the committee meeting tomorrow night.

The committee will engineer the buying and distribution of the gifts for those in the hospital working through the Red Cross.

boon to civilization but if it was only the end of one episode of struggle it was in vain.

William Dobler, member of the Legion, introduced George Marvin Maher, the disabled war veteran ruling the city during this week, and he spoke a few words urging the people to back the American Legion in its work in taking care of the orphans of world war veterans.

He was presented with the keys of the City of Richmond by Mayor W. W. Scott, who with a few well chosen words explained the purpose of the circus given here and he urged the people to back the local Post in its undertaking.

Prior to the reception of the veteran, a parade was held from First street to Twenty-third street. It was headed by a squadron of traffic officers and policemen. Then came the Richmond high school band, followed by representatives of various lodges, including the Moose drum corps, the drill teams of the Modern Woodmen of America, the Moose, Odd Fellows, Royal Neighbors, the Ladies of the G. A. R.; the baby parade section and the automobiles.

Winners in the kiddie parade were: Betty Louie Rubins, 2219 Twenty-sixth street, Ocla Varsanti 322 Barrett avenue, second; Stillman Clark, 717 Twenty-third street, third.

On the platform at the center of activity were seated the gold star war mothers, war mothers, the disabled veteran, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the speakers and representatives of the veteran organizations of the city.

The Armistice ball was given in Memorial hall, beginning at 9 o'clock, and was one of the biggest affairs in the history of the building. George Maher rendered two of his favorite songs during the evening.

The American flag and flags of the Allies were the main decorations of the hall. Barry-Bibbins seven piece orchestra supplied the music, and rendered many old war time songs.

and the navy flyers in the next. Another enlightening piece of evidence came when it was shown that the general staff had completely ignored a report made by Mitchell in October 1924, while he was assistant chief of the air service.

This report called attention to the defenseless condition of the Pacific, which it stated placed Hawaii and the Philippines entirely at the mercy of a foreign enemy. It recommended that these air defenses be materially strengthened.

Although made by Mitchell more than a year ago, the report did not reach the desk of Major Gerald Clark Bryant, flying officer, attached to the General Staff, until last Saturday that officer testified. It was then found to contain the following endorsement:

"The recommendations are based on Gen. Mitchell's personal opinion and therefore no consideration should be given them." Because of the confidential nature of the report, it was not produced before the court.

"The True Significance of Armistice Day" was the subject of the talk given by C. Stanley Wood, chairman of the Americanization committee of the Oakland American Legion at the program of the Richmond Kiwanis club yesterday. The program was in keeping with Armistice Day.

Members who were in the armed forces during the war gave one minute talks on their experiences, and most of the episodes evoked hearty laughter. The Kiwanians rose in silent tribute to the Americans who gave their lives in the war.

Selections were rendered by S. H. Peterson, pianist, and Leroy Boemer, saxophone. Officers for the coming year will be elected next Wednesday. In the absence of President Hall Sanders who is attending the convention at San Diego, Vice-President J. A. Long presided and acted as chairman of the day.

THE SQUIRREL

Has the Right Idea!

Hurrying, scurrying, busy little squirrel—working through the summer and fall months to lay by its provisions for the winter. How wonderful to think that Nature has provided him with the Saving instinct.

Would that many "humans" had it. For, it stands to reason that, unless man stores up a supply of ready dollars for the season of need in his life—he can't expect to enjoy unchecked Happiness.
